

Healthy Baby is Precious Blessing

To Make It Healthy and Keep It Healthy Use a Reliable Baby Laxative

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet, babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But as we cannot all have perfect working bowels, we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative-remedy very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Dorothy Johnson.

Its mildness makes it the ideal medicine for children, and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It is sure in its effect and genuinely harmless. Very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect, as is the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches, etc., among them reliable people like Mrs. M. Johnson, 752 Dayton St., Kenosha, Wis. She is the mother of little Dorothy Johnson who was always in delicate health until her mother gave her Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. Johnson says:

"I never saw such rapid improvement in the health of anyone. Syrup Pepsin is a wonderful remedy and I shall never be without it again." Thousands keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin, and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal card will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 203 Washington Street, Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

GARIBALDI IS IN U. S.

Six Republics Quietly Wondering What He Intends to Do Next.

True Soldier of Fortune—Has Risked Life in Half Dozen Wars and Escaped—Fought With Bulgaria—Gen. Orozco's Exploits.

New York.—Some folks say there is no such thing as luck. Tom Carter stepped off a two-inch curb the other day—and died. Gen. Joseph Garibaldi risked his neck in six wars and was never scratched. What's the answer?

Garibaldi is in town just now. Coincidentally, the rumor comes from the south that the revolutionary pot is on the fire in six South American republics. That may have something to do with Garibaldi's presence here and it may not. In any event, Garibaldi is one of the free lances of fortune one reads about and rarely sees. He has just returned from the war in Bulgaria, where he had an independent command. Before that he was Madero's chief of staff in Mexico—having fought his way to that position by metaphorically tweaking the nose of Bandit Orozco, the most dangerous foe to established order—any established order—that Mexico holds. Before that he sat in a black cell in Porto Cabella for seven months, at Gen. Castro's order, while he fled at his manacles with the bit of tin that had once been the top of a can of beans. And before that—

But that's the story that must be taken up item by item. Garibaldi is the grandson of the great Garibaldi, the liberator. Fighting runs in the Garibaldi blood. No doubt the Garibaldis are in earnest in their wish to free the world from the bonds of tyranny. There is little question that none of the Garibaldis likes any of the ruling families, and that all the ruling families would be grateful if some one would push the Garibaldis off a dock into particularly deep water. But mostly this Garibaldi fights because he likes fighting. Incidentally he has been rich from time to time. Money never lasted long. Also, when the map of the world seems sure of surreptitious alteration Garibaldi is one of those whose whereabouts are pegged by various secret police. The map is gradually changing color these days. Garibaldi offered to land 20,000 Italians in Tripoli at their own expense, armed and equipped and guaranteed fighting men. The Italian government refused the offer. The government needed men mighty badly, but it didn't care for any Garibaldi. He took 600 Greeks from New York to the war in the east at their own cost. Now he's back in New York. What's he doing there?

He's only a youngster in years—a scant thirty-three. But he has been at war for the past seventeen years. Between times he has filled in with diplomatic and political missions. He has an eye for revolution like a hawk in the sky. Just after the ill-fated Madero raised the banner of revolt against Porfirio Diaz, Garibaldi appeared with eight comrades on the border and offered his services to Orozco, the bandit leader.

"I'll have none of you," growled Orozco. "You're too clean."

That's an insult to a soldier on the desert. But the eight started a revolution of their own—against Diaz, against Madero, against Orozco. Soon they were strong enough to make terms. Garibaldi took Juarez, and Madero made him his chief of staff.

"Back Felix Diaz and Huerta against a wall," Garibaldi advised. "Kill them now—to prevent the deaths of hundreds later on."

But Madero would not. He might have saved himself and his administration if he had taken the soldier's advice instead of listening to the dictates of his own gentle heart. Then Garibaldi went on to Tripoli and Bulgaria and where not—and now he's back in town.

Six republics wonder why.

SAVING LEADS TO WEALTH

Henry E. Huntington, Ship Builder, Asserts Young Men Should Invest to Compel Thrift.

Henry E. Huntington.

Los Angeles.—Henry E. Huntington, of New York and Los Angeles, who at the age of sixty-three is retiring from business as rapidly as possible, but whose fortune of forty or fifty million dollars will keep right on working for him, said that the habit of saving paves the road to wealth.

Mr. Huntington believes that this is an age of great opportunity for young men and this is his recipe for success:

"Save a little every week. When you get an increase of wages or salaries continue to live within the former limits and save the increase. "If you find it difficult to save go in debt for a home or undertake some other obligation in the way of investment that will compel you to save."

Mr. Huntington declares he has already practically retired from business.

"I shall give little personal attention to my investments here, nor to those in the east, which are practically as large as my interests here," said he. "For illustration, I scarcely bother my head even now about the ship building plant at Newport News. Altogether I have about 6,000 em-

PAYS DEBT OF GRATITUDE

Lawyer, Whose Life Was Saved Forty Years Ago by Defendant's Father, Reciprocates.

Kansas City, Mo.—The trial of former State Senator Ernest D. Martin for alleged misuse of the mails in the promotion of an electric railway has one romantic feature of which judge, jury and spectators are in ignorance. By the side of the accused man in the federal court there sits daily a keen-eyed, stout, gray-haired man, with a "fighter's jaw," his chief counsel. That man is Jacob I. Shepherd of Fort Scott, Kan., and he is paying a debt of gratitude of 40 years' standing.

It was 40 years ago that Dr. Solon Martin of Marshall, Mo., while driving along a country road came upon a tent where a woman sat beside a sick child.

"Do you know where we can find a doctor?" asked the woman. "My son is dying."

"I am a physician," said Dr. Martin. "We'll do what we can. But you'll have to get him out of this tent and into a house, where he can have constant care," he added after an examination of the child.

"We're driving through the country to Kansas," said the woman. "We have no house and no means."

"I'll take care of you," said Dr. Martin. "You go ahead, and we'll send him to you well in a month or so."

The boy was taken to the home of the physician and kept until he had recovered. Then he was sent to his parents, who were making themselves a home in Kansas.

Shortly after the former state senator had been charged with misusing the mails he received a letter bearing a Fort Scott postmark.

"Forty years ago," the letter ran, "your father put me under a great obligation which I could not fully repay during his lifetime. I beg of you permit me now to discharge that debt by acting as your counsel in the present matter."

The letter was signed "J. I. Shepherd."

ITS AGE IS TWO CENTURIES

Elliot School, Boston, Mass., Celebrates 200th Birthday—Has Occupied Four Buildings on Site.

Boston.—The Elliot Grammar school of Boston held exercises in celebration of the rounding out of the second century of its existence. The school was founded in 1782, when the sturdy fathers of colonial Boston voted to establish a school at the north end of the town to accommodate the growing population in that section. One year later the little edifice was completed and its doors thrown open. The school is the oldest elementary school in the city and the second oldest free school of any kind.

The original building lasted through the period of the revolution and was torn down until 1782. The second building lasted until 1837 and the third persisted until 1869, when the present edifice was erected. All have occupied the same site, which is within a stone's throw of Christ's church, where Paul Revere's lanterns were hung.

Many famous men received their elementary education at the old Elliot school, among them Edward Everett, the famous statesman and orator, and Rev. Samuel S. Smith, author of "America." The last quarter of a century has seen great changes in the section of the city where the school is located, and today 90 per cent. of the pupils are the children of Italian and Jewish immigrants.

In Desperation.

"Has your order been taken, sir?" required the head waiter.

"Yes," replied the patient diner, "fifteen minutes ago. If it isn't too late, though, I'd like to change it."

"To change your order, sir?"

"Yes; if you don't mind I'll change it to an entree."

Thousands of Women

Have Been Restored to Health By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

There is no doubt about this fact. Why! during the last 30 years we have published in the newspapers of this country volumes of letters from women who have been relieved of all their suffering by the timely aid of this grand old medicine. Letters like the following, true, genuine and honest expressions of gratitude coming from grateful hearts. Surely you can believe these women.

Mrs. L. S. BRENNER, Hudson, Mich., says:—

"Sometime ago I was taken with a terrible pain in my right side, such sharp pains just like a knife sticking me. I tried hot applications but that did no good. I went to our family doctor (we were living in Fayette, Ohio, at that time) and he said it was organic inflammation. I doctored with him a while but kept getting worse. The pain was so terrible I could hardly stand on my feet. I would have that sharp pain in my right side, and a full heavy pain the whole length of my limb. I realized that something had to be done quickly, so I looked up all of your advertisements I could find, and saw several that described my case. I got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the first dose, and when I had taken two bottles my trouble was gone. Your medicine has done so much for me that I am willing you should publish this letter for the sake of other suffering women."—Mrs. L. S. BRENNER, Hudson, Michigan.

Mrs. L. E. BOWERS, Girard, Pa., says:—

"I take pleasure in informing you of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I had a sick spell last February, and for some months after that I was not regular and had many bad feelings. I was tired all the time, had dull headaches, not much appetite, and also what the doctor called organic inflammation. Your Vegetable Compound has entirely cured me and I feel that too much cannot be said in its praise as I am now able to do my own work. You are perfectly welcome to use my testimonial for the benefit of others."—Mrs. L. E. BOWERS, R.F.D. No. 1, Girard, Pa.

Mrs. ELIZABETH GENTILCORE, Buffalo, N.Y., says:—

"I feel that I must write to you about your wonderful remedies. About ten years ago I was troubled with female weakness and was all run down. I was tired all the time and could hardly walk without feeling dizzy. I heard about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it, and also used the Sanative Wash. I got stronger, and have not had those dizzy spells since. I feel that I owe my health to you, and hope your remedies will help others as they have me. I tried most everything I heard of, and yours are the best medicines for women's ailments."—Mrs. ELIZABETH GENTILCORE, 26 Gior Street, Buffalo, New York.

For 80 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.
